In particular, neither the Fisch website nor the information included therein is destined for US persons (private or institutional) within the meaning of FATCA legislation or pursuant to the SEC definition. US persons may not invest in any investment funds managed by Fisch, nor is Fisch authorised to manage mandates for US persons. Specific legal information concerning Fisch market forecasts

Market forecasts are intended solely for professional investors. Any documentation related to market forecasts is purely marketing documentation. Market forecasts do not constitute financial analyses or an issue prospectus, and do not represent an offer or an invitation for an offer to purchase or sell financial products. They are not prepared in accordance with the legal provisions to ensure the independence of financial analyses, and are not subject to the trading ban that follows the dissemination of financial analyses. The statements and opinions included therein represent the personal views of the author at a given point in time; these may be changed at any time without prior notice.

Investment risks

PAST PERFORMANCE IS NO GUARANTEE OF FUTURE PERFORMANCE.

Convertible bonds, subordinated bonds, perpetual bonds and floating rate notes are complex financial instruments. In addition, financial products investing primarily in emerging markets and/or in high yield bonds carry higher risks in general. Bonds from issuers with a registered office and/or primary activity in a developing country (emerging market) are exposed to higher political, social and economic risks, which may result in restrictions on capital flows or other constraints and issues. This can make it impossible for the bond issuer to pay the coupon or repay the principal. Furthermore, standards for levels of monitoring and operating opportunities may differ from those in developed economies. Bonds with high yields entail a greater risk of issuer default, and are a riskier investment than higher quality investment grade bonds. The relevant product documentation should be consulted with regard to the individual risks associated with a financial instrument.

Unless otherwise stated, Fisch is the sole owner of and rightful claimant to each individual part of this Fisch website.
